

Antitrust and Competition Litigation

Our Antitrust & Competition Litigation practice includes all aspects of private civil litigation relating to antitrust and competition disputes, representing clients in both civil and criminal enforcement matters, and counseling businesses on a range of antitrust and competition matters integral to their operations, including compliance with applicable regulations. We offer a well-rounded perspective, with Antitrust & Competition Litigation team members in New York, Washington, D.C., and Europe. Members of our team are recognized by Chambers USA, The Legal 500, Who's Who Competition and other major ranking publications for their excellence in antitrust.

We punch well above our weight in representing companies in some of the most complex and highest stakes cases. Our attorneys have decades of experience litigating civil antitrust and competition disputes in trial and appellate courts, including defending clients in class action suits against allegations of cartel behavior, litigating disputes among companies relating to allegations of monopolization and other exclusionary conduct, and defending clients in Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and Department of Justice (DOJ) civil enforcement actions. We also have experience representing plaintiffs in a variety of antitrust matters, as well as representing and advising non-party companies in FTC and DOJ investigations.

We regularly assist companies and executives in enforcement proceedings relating to allegations of criminal violations of antitrust and competition law. Our team includes an alumnus of the FTC and several former Assistant U.S. Attorneys. In cooperation with our Chambers and The Legal 500-ranked white collar defense team, our antitrust litigators have a superb record in achieving favorable results for clients facing government enforcement actions. Further, we have particular strength in helping companies navigate parallel government and civil actions, working with them to determine the most advantageous litigation strategy when facing multiple actions relating to the same conduct.

Several partners in our Antitrust & Competition Litigation practice have served in leadership roles within the ABA Antitrust Section for years, and our senior attorneys regularly lecture and write on issues of interest to the antitrust community.
