Cohen & Gresser Expands Paris Litigation Team

Cohen & Gresser is pleased to announce the expansion of its civil litigation and white collar defense practices in Paris with the addition of partner Loïc Henriot and associates Céline Dangauthier and Magalie Jullien. The team joins C&G from Henriot Avocats, where they advised global clients on complex civil and commercial litigation as well as regulatory investigations, internal investigations, and white collar criminal cases.

Loïc has extensive trial experience before a wide variety of French courts and regulatory bodies. Prior to founding Henriot Avocats, Loïc practiced at Freshfields and Davis Polk & Wardwell in Paris and New York.

“We are delighted to welcome Loïc, Céline, and Magalie and expand our cross-border litigation and white collar practices,” said Paris Managing Partner Johannes Jonas. “In addition to being a long-term friend of the firm, Loïc is a world-class litigator who has an unparalleled ability to translate the complexities of French litigation to foreign audiences.”

“I’m thrilled to join the fantastic global team at C&G, and practice alongside a number of my friends who are equally dedicated to exceptional client service, excellent work, and an entrepreneurial spirit,” said Loïc.
