Jesse Greenwald is an associate in Cohen & Gresser's New York office and is a member of the firm's White Collar Defense & Regulation and Litigation & Arbitration practice groups. He has extensive experience representing clients in the financial services industry, including banks and decentralized finance (DeFi) entities, in regulatory and internal investigations and securities litigation involving the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Department of Justice (DOJ), State Attorneys General, and other regulatory agencies. Jesse maintains an active pro bono practice.

Prior to joining the firm, Jesse was an associate at Sullivan & Cromwell. While in law school, he served as an extern for the Southern Africa Litigation Centre in Johannesburg, providing legal assistance on international criminal justice and human rights law cases in several southern African countries. He also served as an intern for the Federal Defender Office and as a legal intern for the New York State Attorney General's Public Integrity Bureau while in law school. Before attending law school, Jesse was a trial preparation assistant for the New York County District Attorney's Office.

Jesse graduated from the University of Michigan Law School, where he was an associate editor for the Michigan Journal of Gender & Law, president of the Criminal Law Society, and a recipient of the Certificate of Merit in civil procedure. He received his B.S., magna cum laude, in Political Science and Theatre from Northwestern University.

He currently serves as a member of Community Board 4, representing Chelsea and Hell's Kitchen.
