

Aerospace & Defense

Cohen & Gresser advises companies, investors, and other participants in the aerospace and defense sector on a broad range of legal and business matters. Our multidisciplinary team brings together experience in corporate transactions and finance, government contracting, regulatory compliance, national security, intellectual property, investigations, and complex disputes.

We understand the challenges facing aerospace and defense businesses as they navigate evolving technologies, shifting geopolitical conditions, complex supply chains, and heightened regulatory scrutiny. Drawing on experience across practices and jurisdictions, we help clients pursue strategic opportunities, manage risk, and navigate an increasingly complex global environment.

Our areas of focus include:

- Satellites & Space
- Aviation Litigation